Pricelist 2017

Baroque Viola da Gamba family

Our workshop seeks to continue in the tradition and practices of the old masters. As in times past, we produce two styles of baroque viola da gamba:

Simple style viols have been made for centuries. These instruments are visually plain, but they still possess all the qualities of our higher range with cultured sound, volume, response, ergonomics, and correct set-up. If you are intrigued by the viola da gamba family and would like to start playing, or just simply want a good sounding instrument without a great investment, this will be the right range for you.

Bespoke style viols were traditionally made to fulfil customers' exact wishes. Variations in instrument size, materials used, addition of intricate inlays, marquetry, and carvings etc are accommodated depending on the players' aesthetic requirements, desired playability, and budget. We excel in producing quality European bespoke instruments in line with our goal, which is to provide your ideal personal music companion for the years to come.
